Series Introduction:

Diaspora Dreams - Celebrating Black & African Stories is a first-of-its-kind series for the Selma Arts Center. Together, the two plays in the series (School Girls; or, The African Mean Girls Play and The Brothers Size) explore varied intersections of the black diasporic experience. The series will be brought to the Central Valley during Black History Month.

For more information on auditions for The Brothers Size, visit The Brothers Size Audition Packet

Synopsis:

Paulina, the reigning queen bee at Ghana's most exclusive boarding school, has her sights set on the Miss Global Universe pageant. But the arrival of Ericka, a new student with undeniable talent and beauty, captures the attention of the pageant recruiter—and Paulina's hive-minded friends. This buoyant and biting comedy explores the universal similarities (and glaring differences) facing teenage girls across the globe.

Roles:

All characters in the show are female. The production team understands that femininity is not homogenous. You do not need to identify as a woman or girl to audition for this show. If you see yourself in this production and/or identify with the identities and experiences of the characters, we welcome you to come audition.

All characters are of West African descent and are to be played by African and/or Black Actors.
Thank you.
